Aluminum and Steel Derivatives Lists Published

The White House has published the annex, including the list of aluminum and steel derivatives that will be subject to the additional 25% tariffs, with the exception if the aluminum or steel content was smelted and cast in the U.S.

For copies of the annex, which includes the list of aluminum and steel derivatives covered, you can access them using the following links:

The proclamation also requires importers of aluminum and steel derivative articles to provide to CBP any information necessary to identify the aluminum or steel content used in the manufacture of aluminum and steel derivative articles imports covered by this Proclamation. CBP has been authorized and directed to publish regulations or guidance implementing this requirement as soon as practicable the notice says.

As soon as CBP can put a system in place to collect these tariffs, a public notice will be sent to announce the start date.
